LOSING 8,000 ACRES A DAY

It will take twenty or thirty years of continuous effort to get the danger from possible soil erosion under control, says Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, chief of the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture.

Testifying before a House committee Dr. Bennett declared that about 100,000,000 acres of crop land, some of it at the best, were "completely finished" as a result of soil erosion. He estimated the annual direct cost of soil erosion to farmers alone, not counting damage to reservoirs, stream channels, irrigation ditches, highways and railways, at $400,000,000.

During the past fifty years the damage from erosion could be placed at $20,000,000,000 and if the present rate of erosion is allowed to continue, the next fifty years will suffer the same loss. "We are losing every day, as a result of erosion," says Dr. Bennett, "the equivalent of 200 40-acre farms."

Now, this is interesting information. It should attract the attention of farmers in Morgan County. There is no use to wait for the government or some other agency to fight the erosion that affects your land. The time to start the war on erosion is at hand and every farmer can do something in the struggle. Moreover, by doing something, the individual will help himself.

COMMODITY DISTRIBUTION

Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation makes available variety of foodstuffs for needy of county.

Announcement of Wade Blair, local Commodity Supervisor, gives list.

Twenty-four different commodities have been distributed in Morgan county during the past twelve months ending April 30, 1939. The average number of families served per month is 866, and they have received during this period the following: Dried apples 9 pounds, canned peas 12 cans, celery 5 pounds, dry skim milk 15 pounds, rice 17 pounds, potatoes 65 pounds, eggs 4 dozen, oranges 30 pounds, potato flour, 5 pounds, prunes 29 pounds, cheese 3 pounds, raisins 11 pounds, wheat flour 270 pounds, sweet potatoes 12 pounds, Graham flour 25 pounds, butter 25 pounds, cabbage 12 pounds, corn meal 20 pounds, navy beans 31 pounds, grapefruit juice 17 cans, dried peaches 5 pounds, evaporated milk 10 cans, wheat cereal 10 pounds, and fresh grapefruit 41 pounds. The average monthly value, based on the 12 month period is $3.28 per family. Approximately 4,700 persons shared in these distributions each month.

All of the above items have at some time during the period been surplus on the market which of course had a demoralizing effect on the prices farmers and producers received for their product. It is the purpose of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation to remove such surplus products from the market and instead of dumping them or destroying them they are shipped to those sections of the states where their distribution will have no effect on local markets and where there is a need for them. Thus the grower is helped and the needy families are helped making it a two-way proposition. Consumers generally are not penalized by a rise in local prices they pay for such products, the fact is that in some cases they too have benefited from reduced prices of these surpluses.

The Corporations activities are many and varied when it is considered that it serves the whole of the United States and its possessions in some way either in the purchase or distribution section. It is the functioning agency of the Department of Agriculture in this capacity. The revenues for its financial operations comes from customs receipts on imports.

There is evidence of much good being done in Morgan county, not only from a standpoint of supplementing the diet but from an educational value, as many good recipes and nutritive information bulletins are also distributed along with the unusual commodities to the recipients.

Meeting at South Fork

There will be a meeting at the South Fork Church on Decoration Day, May 30, 1939, at 10 o'clock a.m. JESSE KILGORE, Pastor

Mr. and Mrs. Will Carter have finished their moving and are now "at home" on their farm on the Index road, near the new bridge.

WATER FOR US ALL

Word has just been received from the engineers who drafted the Water Works plans for West Liberty, that the plans had now been fully approved by the State Board of Health and that the State WPA officials were ready to consider a regular application for the work on the project to start.

It is now more than a year since the Town Board first started on the present project. Before that two previous Town Boards had made efforts to get a water works project approved without success. The present board was determined from the start to see the matter through, but we had no idea of the immense amount of work and effort that would be required to accomplish what seemed just an ordinary every day undertaking.

The present water system for West Liberty is woefully inadequate. Our only source of supply is a six-inch bored well, with water mains from one inch up to two inches. Our source of supply from the new system will be the Licking River with water mains up to eight inches in diameter. Pumping the water in our present system has been a serious problem and a costly one.

In the new system there will be two pumps installed, with the idea to be assured of water at all times. If at any time in the future one pump should break down, there will be the other pump to use until repairs can be made. West Liberty has outgrown the time when we can do without water from our public source of supply for even a day. There are only a few private wells and many of these are not a safe source of water for general house use.

All the work on the new water system will be done by WPA labor. Besides the labor some money for materials will also accrue to the benefit of West Liberty.

The town of West Liberty will be required to furnish most of the material, pipes, pumps, meters, etc., and the financing will be by the issuing of revenue bonds, which will be a lien on the earning of the system and on the system itself until paid.

Public improvements are always in order and we shall probably not live to see the day when no further improvements are necessary or desirable, but for West Liberty there is not another public improvement so urgently needed as a water supply and sewer system. Let us have the whole citizenship lined up as 100% boosters and the accomplishment will be easy.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Sunday morning soon after Miss Hattie Gibbs was home from church the following visitors drove in: Rev. and Mrs. Garriott, Misses Nell Caskey, Margaret M. Brong and Lovel Brong.

They had planned a little birthday surprise for Miss Gibbs and took with them a big cake with candles. The chicken yard had been raided and a nice fat hen prepared for the occasion.

The father and mother had been let into the secret. The table was set and the rest of the dinner ready.

After the happy greetings, all enjoyed the delicious dinner.

As the guests departed in the afternoon they wished Miss Gibbs many happy returns of the day.

Derby Party

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gentry of Jackson, Michigan, and the following guests, also from Jackson, made a happy party last week to attend the Derby races at Louisville: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Murray, Ed Mahoney, Don Pierce and Howard Gentry. They arrived at West Liberty Thursday afternoon and stopped with Mrs. R. A. Baldwin, who is Mrs. Gentry's mother. Mrs. Baldwin prepared a sumptuous 6 o'clock dinner and invited Mrs. Gentry's brother, J. Drexel Moore and wife and children. Friday morning the party went on to Louisville to enjoy the races Saturday.

Mrs. C. H. Black spent Saturday night and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. T. H. Day, and family of Lenox.

Word has been received here of the death Monday night, in Grayson, of Mrs. J. O. Snodgrass, wife of the former pastor of the Christian churches in West Liberty and Salsersville. Funeral services at 2 p.m. today in the Grayson Christian church.

TRADE IS SWAPPING GOODS

The people of the United States are always interested to hear that the nation has what is known as "a favorable trade balance." They seem to think that there is great national virtue to be found in the fact that the United States sold other lands more than we bought from them.

There might have been a time when this was a sound and logical delight, but, just now, with most of the world's gold and our position as a creditor nation to consider, it doesn't make too much sense.

Let's take the case of Rumania, for example. We do not like to believe that this Balkan nation will ally herself with the totalitarian State and there are some people who dislike the recent commercial agreement between Germany and Rumanians.

In the first two months of this year the Rumanians purchased $1,500,150 worth of American products. This, it is true, is a small business for a nation that thinks and spends in billions. Nevertheless, the point is clearer when we learn that, during the same two months, the United States spent $345,000 for products that Rumania sells.

How long can this last? Well, the Rumanians have to pay for their purchases with gold, goods or service. They have little in the way of services and not too much gold. That leaves them one practical way to buy American products—that is thru the selling of Rumanian products.

If we want to build up the international trade of the United States we must do business with customers able to pay for what they buy. So far as Rumania is concerned, this means that we, or somebody else, must buy what she has to sell, or in plainer terms, the products that she has to barter in the world mart. Germany moves to swap goods with the Rumanians and it is easy to see that unless we are willing to meet that kind of competition we won't sell many American products in Rumania.

Of course, we can get along without the trade of Rumania. That would be easy, if that were all there is to the problem. Unfortunately, what applies to Rumanian trade is applicable to all nations. There must be reciprocity in commerce, which is, in its essentials, a swapping of goods for the mutual benefit of the traders. A nation, unwilling to swap, will, eventually, be unable to sell.

BOY WANTED TO DIE

The other day the police of a western city saved a boy, only thirteen years old, who had attempted to take his life by hanging.

Now, if adults are interested in the welfare of the younger people, the question naturally arises, "What caused this youngster to prefer death to life?"

Well, the lad told the police, listing four reasons: (1) His father was serving a life term in prison; (2) his step-father was in jail for drunkenness; (3) he didn't know where his mother was; (4) he couldn't go to school because he was ashamed of his clothes and his mother wouldn't mend them.

We are not familiar with what might be called the "case-history" of this youngster. Neither are we cognizant of the efforts that may have been made by welfare workers and organizations to extend proper assistance. However, we venture the assertion that nearly every community has, in its midst, young boys and young girls who are facing desperate situations without much evidence that anybody else is interested in their plight.

We are quite frank to say that the answer to such conditions does not roll easily off the tip of the tongue. Few persons know enough to attempt to outline fully the causes of these problem cases, much less the proper solution for society.

It might not be a bad idea for all adults of West Liberty to keep an eye out for such cases in our midst, not so much for the purpose of calling them to public attention as for the opportunity, in quiet and helpful ways, to make a contribution toward the improvement of another individual. It is a service that brings its own reward.

Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kennard, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert McGuire and Mrs. Arnil Hopkins of Matthews were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cooper at Logville Sunday.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Not every pocketbook bulges with money.

The biggest joke on matrimony is some of the couples that try it.

Very often the man who speaks in a safe voice is muddle-headed.

You can agree with almost anybody if you have no opinions of your own.

It might amaze you to see a picture of yourself, taken, say twenty years ago.

Every family has an individual who bears the burdens of the other members.

Everybody would reduce taxes but nobody wants to do without any public service.

Nobody knows what will happen; some people don't even know what has happened.

The world is plagued by citizens who believe that without them the world would be ruined.

Neutrality that is impartial and, the same time says, "Let's help our friends," is an impossibility.

People find new financial obligations whenever somebody asks them to contribute to a worthy cause.

Frankly, there are many things about which we know absolutely nothing, or even less than that.

Advertising is the way to induce people to buy now what they want and to get it from a particular store.

Civilization isn't what it ought to be when a world has to listen to a guy like Hitler before knowing whether there will be peace or war.

What the United States needs, most of all, is a few million patriotic citizens, ready to serve the nation without thinking about the profits.

Unfortunately, if you have had any experience, you know that there are selfish individuals, entirely unconcerned about the welfare of any person other than those connected with the selfish individual.

It's about time for the people of the United States, including those in Morgan County, to forget their habit of lambasting the government. All that you have to do is to compare what you have with what other people have.

OUT OF POLITICS

It has been some time since I wrote an article in this paper stating that I was a candidate for the important office of Representative. Since that time my real estate business has grown so much and some other outside interests and my farming as well that I do not have the time to put into the campaign, to find the needs of the district and put myself properly before the people of Morgan county.

I am thoroughly convinced that I could and would get the nomination should I go on and I take this method of thanking one and all of my admirers and supporters for the assurance that I would make you a good officer.

Now to the voters I am not trying to tell you who to vote for. Just vote as you please so far as I am concerned.

Thanking you again, I remain your Farmer friend,
S. D. CECIL

DAY

Mrs. J. R. Day died at her home just east of town yesterday. Mrs. Day underwent a serious operation at a Lexington hospital several weeks ago and it was at first thought that she was improving. She was brought home here but the wound from the operation did not heal and was the direct cause of her death. The only son, Ollie C. Day of Hazard and her daughters, Hazel Steele of Louisville and Frances, were with their mother when the end came. Mrs. Day was a member of the Eastern Star and prominent in community circles.

Obey traffic laws. Cooperate with traffic officers. Traffic regulations often seem burdensome, but remember, their main purpose is to save lives and prevent injuries.

It is easy to criticize the traffic officer and try to make fun of him. It is so easy to criticize the law enforcement agencies as well as the civic bodies which created the ordinances that regulate our driving. All these restrictions were put into law because we, as automobile drivers, could not regulate ourselves. We violated all principles of decency and courtesy; therefore, it became necessary for the states, the counties, the cities and the villages to pass laws and force us to observe certain regulations.

Now that we have these requirements let us obey them and thereby prevent accidents. Safe driving demands obedience and cooperation. It's Smart to Drive Carefully.

SHEEP TOUR

We have heard in the last year or so a lot of talk about western sheep. A few thought they would do fine here on Morgan County farms while others were in doubt as to how they would get along here.

Thursday, May 13, we are going to see how well these sheep have done in this county. We will have a sheep tour in this county. All who are interested in really seeing with your own eyes these sheep will meet at S. S. Oldfield's at Index, 1 p.m., Thursday, May 13. Last fall Mr. Oldfield bought 30 of these western ewes. Let's see how the ewes have done for Mr. Oldfield. The group will go from Mr. Oldfield's to L. W. Blankenship on Casey Fork. Here we will see 20 western ewes and their lambs.

R. C. Miller, Sheep Specialist and Wm. C. Johnson, Sheep Specialist in pasture production, both from the College of Agriculture, will be with us. Mr. Miller, who assisted in the selection of these sheep, will give the group instructions on the types of western sheep and also important hints in sheep production. Mr. Johnson will give instructions on providing rich pasture for sheep.

We have been informed that a group of farmers from Magoffin and Wolfe Counties will attend the tour. Kentucky farmers are getting interested in sheep.

There will be plenty of cars to provide transportation from Mr. Oldfield's to Mr. Blankenship's so be sure and attend both meetings.

Each ewe will be numbered. Each lamb will have the same number as its mother. The wool from each ewe will be numbered. This is all done in order that we may be able to see and know just what each ewe is doing.

Come out and see what you think of these sheep. Other farmers having western sheep are P. H. Ferguson, W. T. Ward and Floyd Keeton.

FARMERS' COLUMN

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

A survey of 22,321 farm homes in 12 Kentucky counties found bathrooms in only 7.6 percent of them. Eight percent ran sewage into streams, and 5.6 percent disposed of sewage on the surface of the soil. Less than 5 percent had running water.

With recent floods as a warning, Leslie county farmers have responded to county-wide meetings in the interest of tree planting and other soil conservation measures. Less corn and other soil-depleting crops and more grass and hay are planned.

Better ways of marketing strawberries are being studied by Trimble county farmers, who are planning to increase production over a period of years. It is likely that the berries will be sold cooperatively, beginning this year if there is a crop.

Elimination of two bulls would make Russell a scrub-free sire county as far as cattle are concerned. A committee of farmers is trying to complete the job this spring. Plans also call for the purchase of better cows.

A survey in Shelby county showed one large orchard damaged by mice and another by hogs. The hogs, which had access to rubbing oil, transferred the oil to trees, causing the bark to die. Several orchards were found in need of pruning.

Livestock improvement plans in McCreary county include the purchase of western ewes and the elimination of many of the scrub bulls. Grass and hay crops will be enlarged, and superphosphate used to improve production.

The late, wet spring has not dampened the enthusiasm for gardens among members of homemakers clubs in Kentucky, according to reports of county home demonstration agents. Encouraging growing and eating more vegetables is one of the major features of home demonstration work. Last year, 4,551 Kentucky farm families had gardens containing 15 or more vegetables, and included several vegetables they had never grown before.

Grow Good Alfalfa

Sam Barbee, Adair county, Kentucky, found easy way to grow alfalfa, writes County Agent R. B. Rankin. He applied manure, limestone and phosphate on thin land, and now has "some of the finest alfalfa I ever saw," says Rankin. Barbee is so pleased that he is planning to increase his alfalfa acreage following this year's tobacco crop. He will broadcast 500 pounds of phosphate to the acre before setting tobacco, for the benefit of both tobacco and alfalfa, and then lime the land and sow alfalfa as soon as the tobacco is harvested.

FARMERS TURN TO LIVESTOCK

A steadily growing interest in more and better livestock in Kentucky is reported by the State College of Agriculture at Lexington. Numerous inquiries for breeding stock have been received at the college this spring, and large numbers of farmers are in the market for cattle, hogs and sheep. Increased production of hay and grass is given credit for much of the interest in livestock.

In some sections farmers are interested in types of cattle that produce both beef and milk. Some of the beef breed associations report exhaustion of their supplies of bulls. Cows and heifers also are in demand, as more farmers turn to home production of feeders.

In practically all cases, the calls are for registered breeding stock. It is estimated that 65 percent of the bulls in Kentucky now are purebred. Twenty years ago, when the college launched its purebred sires work, less than 19 percent of the sires were purebred.

Last year, 686 registered bulls were placed on Kentucky farms, and purebred cows and heifers were put on 560 farms, according to Wayland Rhoads extension field agent in cattle production.

SHIRRED EGGS

Shirred eggs are delicious and different. Many people who are tired of the usual fried or poached egg might try shirring them, suggests the Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Cut a slice of bread of triple-thickness, and hollow out a mold in the center of it. Into this, break one egg. Season with salt and pepper, put in a greased pan and slide it into a slow oven until the egg is set and the bread slightly browned. Serve immediately.

Another suggestion as to shirring eggs is as follows:

Use a small egg-shirrer or small ramekins. Grease each dish and put in a layer of buttered crumbs. An egg should then be broken over the crumbs, salt and pepper added to taste, and the whole covered with buttered crumbs. Bake in a slow oven until the crumbs are browned and the eggs set. Serve in the ramekins.

Tobacco Growing

An agricultural improvement program outlined by County Agent C. S. Bell in Anderson county features tobacco management, beginning with plant beds and continuing thru marketing. Management demonstrations will be given in every community. Among goals set up in the county are: Winter cover crops for all cultivated land; farmers to earn 95 percent of their soil-building payments; increased use of limestone and phosphate; increased growing of alfalfa; demonstrations of Italian ryegrass; larger acreage of hybrid corn; a long-time program to control soil erosion.

With KENTUCKY Editors

New York, April 30—A Canadian Scotsman won the screw newsweekstakes by five lengths this week—he sent the Government 10 cents because he'd been filling his fountain pen in postoffice inkwells for 20 years.

Lovel Rose, 46, of Bath county, there for nine years after having been convicted of deserting infant children, was arrested Thursday of last week by Deputy Sheriff Alvin Hall at Emerson. Sheriff A. H. Duff of Owsingville took over custody of Rose from local authorities.—Lewis County Herald.

Frankfort, Ky., Midnight of June 26 was fixed as the deadline for candidates in district composed of more than one county to file their declarations with the Secretary of State. An opinion as to the exact date forty days before the August 5th primary, was given by Assistant Attorney General Guy H. Herndon upon request of Secretary of State Arnett.

The Carter County Herald at Olive Hill last week paid its compliments to the out of town solicitor for the printing of cards and all kinds of stationery, to be printed in Cincinnati, Chicago, or no one knows where and then sent on C.O.D. Always this printing is done on inferior stock and oftentimes a name spelled incorrectly, but the customer has paid his money and has no recourse. The Herald is of the opinion that local business people or candidates who have such poor judgment as to send their money out of the community for something they could buy more cheaply and with better satisfaction at home are not good business men and would not make good officials.

There seems to be more hope for debtors, in a ruling by the federal court of appeals in Washington. It says they have grounds for damages if they are hounded by creditors and collectors until they're sick.

A debtor complained that dunning letters got him down until he suffered high blood pressure. The judge, condemning such hurtful zeal, declared: "Lawyers have begun to learn from doctors and psychologists that fear influences every organ and tissue." He concluded that it is unlawful for creditors or their representatives to scare debtors by threatening dire penalties for non-payment.

The resulting disease would probably be called "creditoritis," and is very prevalent now.

It should not be overlooked that there is also a disease which might be known as "debtoritis," which ravages the organs, tissues and souls of creditors whose debtors could pay, but won't.—Evansville Courier.

The approach of State Highways 11 and 40 to a junction with U. S. Highway No. 60 at Mt. Sterling is over the tracks of the C. & O. Railway on the east edge of town. Negotiations are in process and blue prints are being prepared to have the State Highway Department build a viaduct for an overhead pass over the railroad tracks.

The big problem for the city seems to be the acquisition of the deeds for the right-of-way. The state asks for 80 feet and this width cuts about ten feet on each side into and through the business buildings on each side of Locust streets of the town and the property is valuable.

If the state will agree to a 60 foot right-of-way present indications are that the viaduct will be built, and this would seem to be the sensible thing to do.

WASHINGTON NOTES

HOME FOR NEGROES

Senator Bilbo, of Mississippi, recently urged Federal aid for colonization of large numbers of Negroes in Liberia, speaking to the Senate on behalf of the program sponsored by the peace movement of Ethiopia, organized in Chicago. With something like 500 Negroes listening in the galleries, the Mississippi Senator called attention to a petition, said to contain 2,500,000 signatures of Negroes. He urged that the United States negotiate with Great Britain and France for the purchase of 400,000 square miles adjacent to Liberia, to be used by colonists from America, whose migration would be financed by this country. "As certainly as the sun shines," said Senator Bilbo, "there are only two solutions to the race problem, physical separation or amalgamation of the two races."

LINDBERG

Colonel Charles A. Lindberg, on duty as Colonel of the Army Air Force, gave the news photographers a chase in Washington this month. On one occasion, newspaper men and camera men were admitted to a room prior to the arrival of the aviator for a conference. However, when he saw the photographers he took cover in an adjoining office and before he would emerge every camera man was sent out of the room barred from the building.

WAR BOOK

"American Armies and Battlefields in Europe," a volume of 547 pages, illustrated with 561 official photographs and over 120 maps, of which 27 are in color, has been published by the American Battle Monuments Commission. General Pershing, chairman of the Commission, says that the book is the result of many years of effort and is "a combined guide to the American World War battlefields in Europe and a concise history and reference works covering the activities of the American Overseas forces, during the period 1917-19." The book is now on sale and will be sent to individuals for $2.75. Orders should be addressed to the Superintendent of Public Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

FOOD STAMPS

The new food stamp plan for the distribution of farm surpluses thru the normal channels of trade will begin in a selected city sometime in May. Already officials have begun preliminary work in Rochester, New York, on arrangements. Two variations of the plan will be tested. Under one, WPA workers may request that an amount equal to at least one dollar and not more than one dollar and a half a week for each member of the family be deducted from their wages, and they will receive orange stamps of a corresponding amount which will be good for the purchase of any food. Blue stamps representing fifty percent of the value of the orange stamps will be given free, but they will be accepted in exchange only for food designated as surplus. The stamps will be redeemed by the Government.

Under the other plan, from one dollar to one-fifty in orange stamps could be bought by any person receiving general relief, old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind. For every dollar paid for orange stamps by those who are eligible, fifty cents worth of blue stamps would be given free.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox and children of Lothair have been visiting friends and relatives here.

WAR WOUNDS.

Medical officials from thirty-two foreign governments will be in Washington in May for a study of means to cope with wounds and diseases in war. It will be the first time that the International Congress of Military Medicine and Pharmacy has met in the United States.

REFUGEE CHILDREN

Former President Hoover and former Governor Alfred M. Landon have endorsed the Wagner-Rogers bill, providing for the entry of 20,000 German refugee children into this country during the next two years, without reference to quota restrictions of the immigration law. The measure would permit entry of 10,000 children under fourteen years of age this year and in 1940, upon satisfactory assurances that they would be adequately cared for by responsible citizens or private organizations. Mr. Landon called attention to the "danger of a demand subsequently that the parents of these children receive special consideration."

5.7 MILES

A new "greatest depth" in the Atlantic, as far as existing records go, was recently discovered in the Puerto Rico trough, off Naires Deet, north of Puerto Rico, by the Cruiser Milwaukee. The new depth was 5.7 miles.

ANTARCTICA

Lincoln Ellsworth, explorer, recently conferred with Government officials in regards to the survey of lands in Antarctica, discovered by Americans, preliminary to determining what, if any, this country may claim as permanent possessions. The State Department's study of the question has been proceeding for some time, and Mrs. Ellsworth was invited to discuss his recent explorations, when he claimed 81,000 square miles of territory for the United States. Officials have recognized for many years that the question of Antarctic territory would have to be adjusted some time, and the unsettled state of the world is believed to have hastened study of the problem. Germany recently claimed 230,000 square miles after an expedition spent four months in Antarctica. Other powers claiming large areas are Norway, Great Britain, France, and the United States. All of them are interested in the probability that the South Pole territories may contain valuable deposits of oil, copper, tin, nickel, coal and other resources.

CANNEL CITY SCHOOL NEWS

The Cannel City PTA held its regular meeting Monday night, May 1. The following officers were elected for the coming year. Mrs. Hager Phipps, president; Mrs. Donnie Patrick, vice president; Mrs. Doris Peyton, secretary; Oakley Benton, treasurer. The program was given by Mr. Nickell and the basketball boys. Mr. Burton of West Liberty made a talk on "The Value of Athletics." Ezel softball team plays Cannel City softball team here Friday afternoon.

Poems written by 9th grade pupils "The Wilddogs" was written by Harold Haney in honor of the basketball team.

"THE WILD DOGS"

Here comes Hargis with a great big grin
Holding his head up, sticking out his chin
The referee's whistle gives a shrill call
There goes the Wild dogs with the basketball.

Now here's Buron Haney, he's good and tall

Every time you look around, you see him with the ball.

He dribbles out steady, sure and slow
He goes in for a crip, and makes his goal.

When the other team goes to see about the score
We are ahead twenty to four.

The "Short Forks" that sound like a skunk,

Kenneth, Herbert, Carlyle and all such junk.

Now here's Burligh Arnett on the "Short Forks Team."

When he shoots a left hand shot, you can hear some screams

Now here is the moral, as funny as it may seem.

You better not tell on the Wold dog team!

The following poem was written by Dora Lee Benton:

DADDY'S FLOWER GARDEN

Sweet peas and roses,
Fall roses and dahlias,
Scarlet sage, nasturtiums,
Purples and hollyhocks—
A garden is a sweet despair
So much is there to choose;
And every blossom he must spare,
Is so much joy to lose,
In Daddy's flower garden.
He toils from morn till night,
To find the lovely sight,
Of all these flowers when in bloom
But sometimes he gets so blue
When he sees there is one flower
he will have to lose,
Out of Daddy's flower garden.
Every evening when daddy comes in from work
He pulls off his tie, and unbuttons his shirt,
And says, "Come on Mom, let's take a stroll,
Out through the flower garden,
To see the craw-fish holes,"
In Daddy's flower garden.
Larkspurs and lillies,
Poppies and sweet williams,
Four-o'clocks, for-get-me-nots,
All these may be his.
But never a flower garden yet
Would hold all he would sow.

This obstacle is overcome when P-Sam, the colored house boy, arrives by wire when an old friend telegraphs expense money for

Henry's father to entertain the friend's two daughters over a week end. But father is on a trip to Mexico and the girls are arriving.

What will they do for a chaperon was the main question then.
This obstacle is overcome when P-Sam, the colored house boy, finds on the ground a grey wig and a black dress. George dresses up in Mrs. Lennox's clothes and proves a perfect chaperon. The girls arrive making an instant hit with P-Sam, Henry and George.

Grandma has many narrow escapes from discovery and is almost cornered when Mrs. Lennox calls in two exceedingly dumb police.

Grandma finally has to disappear permanently in order that Mrs.

Lennox can have her clothes. In the end there are prospects of 3 sets of wedding bells or 3 sets of necks wrung.

HOLLIDAY

May 8.—I am wondering if our young people can fully adjust themselves to our fast changing civilization, which requires so much thoughtful concentrating along many social lines if their lives are to be guided along spiritual lines which would keep them out of crime and evil associates. New roads in some instances are the means of causing more crime and lawlessness, if community centers as church and Sunday school are neglected. We cannot fully say that roads are not a blessing if they are the means of allowing the better classes of high thinking people to visit that community. If youth could be trained to appreciate the good, respect others, love the noble things, then Morgan county would be the Eutopia which the good people are desiring to enjoy in this world.

This community is always ready to welcome Yandal Wrather, our County Agent, who has organized a 4-H club work here, as he seems so interested in helping the boys and girls to make every possible improvement in their farm and home work.

The farmers here are very busy at present preparing their soils for their corn crops, which will be planted soon; by better farming methods the farmer's outlook is more promising.

James Oney, who was 77 years old, celebrated his birthday last week May 6. He is in very good health for a man of his age and loves to work on the farm.

These people went to Pikeville to try to get on construction work near White Oak last week: Sam Salyer, Bill Holliday, Park Lykins, Charles Holliday, O. G. Gullett, Arnold Holliday, Orval Arnett. They all seem to want work very badly. Why shouldn't any man who desires work have it?

The following persons, were in West Liberty on business last week: Ray Vance, Edward Vance, Edward Holliday, Harrison Holliday, Willie Holliday.

Martie Lewis and wife, Veneda, of Caney, were visiting relatives here over the week end.

The following persons were at Salsersville on business last week: Alex Holliday, Ronal Dingus, wife and daughter and son.

It seems to me that our county paper, under the supervision of Mr. Brong, is getting better all the while. Even children can hardly wait for it to come in to see the news.
